

CAPTAIN
COBB
AND THE STEAMER
DILIGENT

CAPTAIN NOAH HENDERSON COBB OF NEW ALBANY, IN

Commander and owner of several steamboats that operated between Louisville and West Point, KY, Captain Cobb was also extensively engaged in merchandising of groceries, produce and special cargoes.

AN ARTICLE FROM THE CINCINNATI COMMERCIAL DATED NOVEMBER 19, 1861 SAYS IT BEST

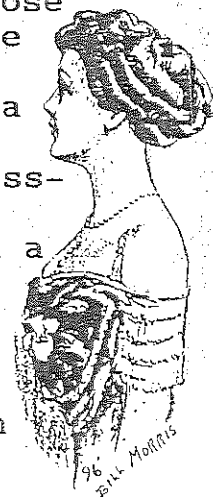

A halo of sunshine was thrown over our camp yesterday, by the advent of a steamboat full of ladies, from New Albany and Louisville, brought down by our good brother and obliging commander, Captain Cobb, of the Diligent. In consideration of many services rendered, and especially bringing that load of ladies - the humanest we have met since we looked into those tear filled black eyes far away at home - the 37th Indiana votes the entire crop of Cobb's "Sound Corn." The news from the fleet sent a thrill of delight through this encampment, molifying the effect of our defeat on the Mississippi.

Refresh us with a few Commercials once in a while - yes twice in a while.

The same

JARGO NETHLITZ

(JARGO NETHLITZ was the pen name for Chaplin John H. Lozier of the 37th Indiana)

☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆

☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆

NEELE BISHOP
HARRIS
HARRIS

THE HARRIS