Read the Riot Act

Common Sayings

Meaning: Give someone a strong warning that they must improve their behavior.

Origin: In 18th century England the Riot Act was a legal document that was read aloud in front of a crowd bigger than 12 people that were considered a threat to peace. A public official would read a small part of the Act and order people to leave peacefully within an hour, anyone that remained after one hour was subject to arrest or removal by force.

Paint The Town Red

Meaning: Go out and enjoy oneself flamboyantly.

Origin: There are two versions on how this idiom came to be used. First, it is believed that back in 1837 a famous mischief maker known as the 'Marquis of Waterford' had a wild night out with his group of friends, during which they knocked over flowerpots, pulled knockers off doors and even broke windows. One of their biggest acts of vandalism was painting the doors of several homes with red paint. The other version of the story says that the origin of this idiom might have originated from the brothels of the American West, where they referred to drunk men behaving as if the whole town was a red-light district.

Beat About the Bush

Meaning: Discuss a matter without coming to the point.

Origin: Beating about the bush is an action performed while hunting, driving birds and other animals out into the open. After this was done others would then catch the animals.

Grand Masters Picnic

June 14th Grand Master Craig Stanfield held our Annual Picnic at the Lions Club Fairgrounds in Tollesboro, Ky. Attended by approximately 57 of our Brothers and Sisters. This was a very busy day for our GM because he was to be an auctioneer to raise funds for Treasure Paws immediately after. Treasure Paws is a group who re-home dogs from the shelter. Though it was a busy day for our GM he did admit his wife did a lot of the work for a successful day of fellowship and friendship. Due to health concerns, our Grand Secretary Arthur Light did not attend. Our Grand Treasurer had a knee replacement and could not attend. Ringgold and DeKalb lodges had the most attendees.

Odd Fellows honor the dead

We placed tribute to honor your Fellow, Odd Fellow, and Civil War Veteran. The incredible dedication and collaboration of Victor Vogt, Bruce Fortin, and Tom Latham in restoring and commemorating such a significant piece of history. Bruce's research into Big Spring Lodge 826 F&AM and locating the first Lodge Master after the Civil War adds an impressive layer of historical context to this act of remembrance.

Setting the marker for this Veteran whose stone was in pieces is not only a remarkable act of respect but also a way of preserving history for future generations. Honoring our Brother in Arms and Odd Fellow in such a heartfelt way reflects the enduring bonds of fraternity and shared values. What a powerful and meaningful accomplishment!

THE COX BUILDING AND THE MARKET STREET FOUNTAIN, MAYSVILLE, KY
 THE COX BUILDING located at the intersection of East Third Street and Market Street, in Maysville (the county seat), Mason Co., KY, was constructed by Wm. H. Cox (later Lt. Governor of KY) and George L. Cox in 1886. Designed by W.R. Brown, a partner in the Cincinnati architectural firm of Crapsiey & Brown, this beautiful Romanesque and Gothic Revival structure was built to provide originally for a number of store-fronts, second floor office space, with the upper-most floors designed for use as a Masonic Temple.
 The City of Maysville purchased the property in 2006 intending to renovate the property, which is the marquee structure of the entire Maysville Downtown and which commands a prominent location at the junction of two main downtown streets.
 In Nov. of 2010, a massive fire severely damaged the building, gutting a significant portion of the building and taking nearly the entire roof. The valiant efforts of local firefighters stopped the fire before the building was so damaged that it would require dismantlement, and the City of Maysville was able to save the structure, completely restoring and modernizing it, providing for a landmark downtown attraction.
 THE MARKET STREET FOUNTAIN was an 1884 gift to the City of Maysville from John N. Thomas and is prominently located on Market Street adjacent to the intersection of Third Street. The fountain was located in several locations before finally being permanently situated in its current location in 1977. Originally the fountain was taller and included an additional basin with an additional "lady"; however the upper-most portion of the fountain disappeared during prior storage and disassembly and its current location is unknown.
